I consider myself an avid reader.	I've read 2 or more Dr. Seuss books and can name them.	I heard the True Confessions of Charlotte Doyle as a read aloud.	I read The Giver by Lois Lowry in school.	I've read the entire Harry Potter series.
I can name the title of a Shel Silverstein book.	I know the name of the main character in Where the Wild Things Are by Maurice Sendak	I can name the type of animal Charlotte is in the novel Charlotte's Web by EB White.	I generally think the book is better than the movie version of a story.	My parents frequently read to me as a child.
A teacher "turned me onto" reading.	I've read aloud to a child.	FREE	I can name a book written by Roald Dahl.	My favorite genre of book is nonfiction.
I have read a children's book in the last month.	As a child I did not enjoy reading.	I've given a children's book as a gift.	I can name four children's books that have been turned into movies.	I've read a book written by Mark Twain.
My favorite genre of book is science fiction.	I've read The Hatchet by Gary Paulson	Language Arts was my favorite subject in middle school.	I can name what kind of animal Curious George is.	I went to a bookstore over break.
